

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN
SOUTHERN DIVISION

HARVEY PRESTON,

Plaintiff,

Case No. 1:25-cv-29

v.

Honorable Hala Y. Jarbou

DALE BONN et al.,

Defendants.

This is a civil rights action brought by a state prisoner under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. This action was initially filed in the District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan but was transferred to this Court on January 7, 2025. (ECF No. 5.) Plaintiff has filed a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis. (ECF No. 2.) However, Plaintiff is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). Where a plaintiff is ineligible for in forma pauperis status under 28 U.S.C. § 1915, “he must make full payment of the filing fee before his action may proceed.” In re Alea, 286 F.3d 378, 380 (6th Cir. 2002).

Plaintiff has filed at least three lawsuits that were dismissed as frivolous, malicious, or for failure to state a claim, and Plaintiff has not demonstrated that he is in imminent danger of serious physical injury to allow him to proceed in forma pauperis in this action. Further, Plaintiff has not paid the $405.00 civil action filing fees applicable to those not permitted to proceed in forma *pauperis.*¹ Accordingly, for the reasons set forth below, this action will be dismissed without prejudice pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g).

Discussion

The Prison Litigation Reform Act (PLRA), Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996), which was enacted on April 26, 1996, amended the procedural rules governing a prisoner’s request for the privilege of proceeding in forma pauperis. As the Sixth Circuit has stated, the PLRA was “aimed at the skyrocketing numbers of claims filed by prisoners—many of which are meritless—and the corresponding burden those filings have placed on the federal courts.” Hampton v. Hobbs, 106 F.3d 1281, 1286 (6th Cir. 1997). For that reason, Congress created economic incentives to prompt a prisoner to “stop and think” before filing a complaint. Id. For example, a prisoner is liable for the civil action filing fee, and if the prisoner qualifies to proceed in forma pauperis, the prisoner may pay the fee through partial payments as outlined in 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b). The constitutionality of the fee requirements of the PLRA has been upheld by the Sixth Circuit. Id. at 1288.

In addition, another provision reinforces the “stop and think” aspect of the PLRA by preventing a prisoner from proceeding in forma pauperis when the prisoner repeatedly files meritless lawsuits. Known as the “three-strikes” rule, the provision states:

In no event shall a prisoner bring a civil action or appeal a judgment in a civil action or proceeding under [the section governing proceedings in forma pauperis] if the prisoner has, on 3 or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it is frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The statutory restriction “[i]n no event,” found in § 1915(g), is express and unequivocal. The statute does allow an exception for a prisoner who is “under imminent danger of serious physical injury.” The Sixth Circuit has upheld the constitutionality of the three-strikes rule against arguments that it violates equal protection, the right of access to the courts, and due process, and that it constitutes a bill of attainder and is ex post facto legislation. Wilson v. Yaklich, 148 F.3d 596, 604–06 (6th Cir. 1998).

In at least three of Plaintiff’s lawsuits, the Court entered dismissals on the grounds that the cases were frivolous, malicious, and/or failed to state a claim. See Preston v. White, No. 2:03-cv-249 (W.D. Mich. Jan. 7, 2004); Preston v. Duney, No. 2:03-cv-253 (W.D. Mich. Jan. 6, 2004); Preston v. Burch, No. 1:03-cv-581 (W.D. Mich. Dec. 5, 2003). In addition, the Court previously has denied Plaintiff leave to proceed in forma pauperis under the three-strikes rule. See Preston v. Hoffman et al., No. 2:24-cv-179 (W.D. Mich. Nov. 22, 2024); Preston v. Bonn et al., No. 1:24-cv-588 (W.D. Mich. July 2, 2024); Preston v. Davids, No. 1:24-cv-416 (W.D. Mich. May 7, 2024); Preston v. Rewerts et al., No. 1:24-cv-304 (W.D. Mich. Apr. 25, 2024); Preston v. Russell, No. 1:21-cv-312 (W.D. Mich. Apr. 29, 2021); Preston v. Davids, No. 1:18-cv-803 (W.D. Mich. Aug. 8, 2018); Preston v. Smith et al., No. 1:18-cv-84 (W.D. Mich. Feb. 2, 2018); Preston v. U.P. Health Sys. et al., No. 2:16-cv-201 (W.D. Mich. Sept. 30, 2016).

Moreover, Plaintiff’s allegations do not fall within the “imminent danger” exception to the three-strikes rule. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The Sixth Circuit set forth the following general requirements for a claim of imminent danger:

In order to allege sufficiently imminent danger, we have held that “the threat or prison condition must be real and proximate and the danger of serious physical injury must exist at the time the complaint is filed.” Rittner v. Kinder, 290 F. App’x 796, 797 (6th Cir. 2008) (internal quotation marks omitted). “Thus a prisoner’s assertion that he or she faced danger in the past is insufficient to invoke the exception.” Id. at 797–98; see also [Taylor v. First Med. Mgmt., 508 F. App’x 488, 492 (6th Cir. 2012)] (“Allegations of past dangers are insufficient to invoke the exception.”); Percival v. Gerth, 443 F. App’x 944, 946 (6th Cir. 2011) (“Assertions of past danger will not satisfy the ‘imminent danger’ exception.”); cf. [Pointer v. Wilkinson, 502 F.3d 369, 371 n.1 (6th Cir. 2007)] (implying that past danger is insufficient for the imminent-danger exception).

In addition to a temporal requirement, we have explained that the allegations must be sufficient to allow a court to draw reasonable inferences that the danger exists. To that end, “district courts may deny a prisoner leave to proceed pursuant to § 1915(g) when the prisoner’s claims of imminent danger are conclusory or ridiculous, or are clearly baseless (i.e. are fantastic or delusional and rise to the level of irrational or wholly incredible).” Rittner, 290 F. App’x at 798 (internal quotation marks and citations omitted); see also Taylor, 508 F. App’x at 492 (“Allegations that are conclusory, ridiculous, or clearly baseless are also insufficient for purposes of the imminent-danger exception.”).

Vandiver v. Prison Health Services, Inc., 727 F.3d 580, 585 (6th Cir. 2013). A prisoner’s claim of imminent danger is subject to the same notice pleading requirement as that which applies to prisoner complaints. Id. Consequently, a prisoner must allege facts in the complaint from which the Court could reasonably conclude that the prisoner was under an existing danger at the time he filed his complaint, but the prisoner need not affirmatively prove those allegations. Id.

Plaintiff is currently incarcerated at the Ionia Correctional Facility (ICF) and sues the following ICF personnel: Warden Dale Bonn, Assistant Deputy Warden Sabrina Davis Jones, Doctor Leoncie Mukarurinda, Psychologists David Maranka, Brian Vantof, and Brian Majerczyk, Prison Counselor Unknown Hegnesbach, Resident Unit Manager David Reed, Psychiatrist Hanna Saad, Optometrist David Scholten, Property Room Officer Unknown Lafler, Law Librarian Technician Joe Novak, Food Service Director John Tunell, and Registered Nurse Sadie Massie.

Plaintiff’s factual allegations are scant. He suggests that he was transferred to ICF from the Baraga Correctional Facility (AMF) despite having no misconducts and loss of privileges. (Compl., ECF No. 1, PageID.9.) Plaintiff contends that he has “done nothing wrong at [ICF] to be in administrative segregation.” (Id.) Plaintiff suggests that he cannot be held in segregation for more than 14 days because of a severe mental illness. (Id.) Plaintiff argues that officials “used the transfer and administrative segregation to restrict [his] access to the courts,” and that officials “failed to follow their own rules in placing [him] in administrative segregation.” (Id.) Plaintiff contends that Defendants Bonn, Jones, Vantof, Majerczyk, Maranka, Saad, Reed, and Hegnesbach were all involved in the decision to place him in administrative segregation. (Id.)

Plaintiff goes on to state that he has broken “solar shields,” and that Defendant Scholten has not replaced them. (Id.) Plaintiff notes that he has “blurry vision, watery eyes[, and] swelling in [his] eyes.” (Id.)

Plaintiff next states that Defendant Lafler has denied him his personal property, such as a television, legal mail, and footlockers. (Id.) Plaintiff refers to Defendant Tunell and notes “food poison[,] religious diet[,] food trays.” (Id.) He also suggests that Defendant Novak has denied him access to the law library and the courts. (Id.)

Plaintiff avers that Defendant Mukarurinda has denied him medical treatment for various conditions, such as chronic migraines, a “knot” on his back, tightness in his chest, and hearing loss. (Id.) He also notes a toothache, and that Defendant Massie has also denied treatment. (Id.) Finally, Plaintiff contends that Defendants Saad, Majerczyk, and Vantoff have denied mental health treatment. (Id.)

The Court concludes that Plaintiff has failed to allege any facts which support a finding that he was in imminent danger at the time he filed this lawsuit. Initially, the Court notes that Plaintiff’s allegations regarding his placement in administrative segregation, the denial of his property, and the lack of law library access fail to rise to the level of imminent danger. Furthermore, Plaintiff’s claims regarding the denial of medical and mental health treatment are wholly conclusory. He fails to identify any individual action taken by any individual Defendant to deprive him of care. Furthermore, “[a] physical injury is ‘serious’ for purposes of § 1915(g) if it has potentially dangerous consequences such as death or severe bodily harm. Minor harms or fleeting discomfort don’t count.” Gresham v. Meden, 938 F.3d 847, 850 (6th Cir. 2019). Plaintiff’s conclusory allegations regarding his various ailments do not rise to this level, as Plaintiff’s complaint is wholly devoid of any allegations from which the Court could infer that he is facing severe bodily harm as a result of those conditions.

Moreover, Plaintiff’s conclusory assertion that he believed his religious diet was poisoned fails to demonstrate that he is in imminent danger of serious physical injury. Plaintiff has routinely made similar allegations about officials at different prisons, beginning as early as 2003, which this Court held were inadequate to state a claim because they were conclusory. See Preston v. Duney, No. 2:03-cv-253 (W.D. Mich. Jan. 6, 2004) (dismissing for failure to state a claim Plaintiff’s complaint that the defendant must have tampered with his meal at the Marquette Branch Prison because he felt an immediate throbbing on both sides of his neck after the defendant gave him his food tray); Preston v. Burch, No. 1:03-cv-581 (W.D. Mich.) (attaching grievances alleging Oaks Correctional Facility personnel poisoned his food on numerous occasions); see also Preston v. U.P. Health Sys. et al., No. 2:16-cv-201 (W.D. Mich.) (alleging that health services ignored his conclusory complaints that personnel at the Marquette Branch Prison poisoned his food on many occasions, causing him head and chest pain). Likewise, this Court has previously denied leave to proceed in forma pauperis under the imminent-danger exception based on nearly identical, wholly conclusory allegations that different defendants at ICF poisoned his food in December 2017 and again in 2024. See Preston v. Hoffman et al., No. 1:24-cv-588; Preston v. Davids, No. 1:24-cv-416; Preston v. Rewerts et al., No. 1:24-cv-304; Preston v. Smith et al., No. 1:18-cv-84. Under these circumstances, Plaintiff's conclusory allegations fail to contain sufficient facts to demonstrate that he is in imminent danger of serious physical injury from consuming allegedly poisonous food.

Accordingly, Plaintiff is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis under § 1915(g). Plaintiff also has not paid the $405.00 civil action filing fees applicable to those not permitted to proceed in forma pauperis. The Court will therefore dismiss this action without prejudice. See Dupree v. Palmer, 284 F.3d 1234, 1236 (11th Cir. 2002) (“[T]he proper procedure is for the district court to dismiss the complaint without prejudice when it denies the prisoner leave to proceed in forma pauperis pursuant to the three strikes provision of § 1915(g).”). Plaintiff is free to refile his complaint as a new action in this Court if he submits the filing fees at the time that he initiates the new action.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, the Court will deny Plaintiff leave to proceed in forma pauperis. The Court will dismiss this action without prejudice to Plaintiff's right to refile his complaint as a new action in this Court with the full civil action filing fees.²

For the same reasons that the Court dismisses the action, the Court discerns no good-faith basis for an appeal. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3); McGore v. Wrigglesworth, 114 F.3d 601, 611 (6th Cir. 1997). Further, should Plaintiff appeal this decision, he must pay the $605.00 appellate filing fee in a lump sum, because he is prohibited from proceeding in forma pauperis on appeal by 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g).

An order and judgment consistent with this opinion will be entered.
